

Litigation Ethics: Communications, Discovery, and Witnesses

This interactive program uses hypotheticals to explore topics of interest to litigators (and transactional lawyers whose clients might face litigation) -- including such issues as (1) lawyers' communications (including talking to the press about cases and criticizing judges); (2) aggressive and deceptive discovery tactics (including tape recording telephone calls, and use of admittedly deceptive tactics during public interest investigations -- such as housing discrimination tests, and purely commercial investigations); and (3) dealing with fact witnesses (including the permissibility of paying fact witnesses for their time, and preparing fact witnesses for testimony).
